NEW SHOCKS FROM OIL INVESTIGATION

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE STRAWN AND POMERENE

TEAPOT DOME PROBE HAS NEW SURPRISES

President Gives His O. K. to Senate
Resolution for Special Counsel—
Denver Publisher Springs New,
$1,000,000 Sensation.

Washington.—Further sensations in the investigations of the oil leases are developing this week. Among a number of witnesses who have been subpoenaed are John C. Shaefer, a publisher of Denver and Chicago, and a rival editor of Frederick G. Bonfils of Denver, who has admitted a $1,000,000 contract with Sinclair for certain sections of the Teapot Dome reserves; John T. King, former Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, who is to be questioned regarding funds spent by the Association of Petroleum Producers of Mexico; George Creel, director of public information during the World war; Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, and a number of bankers and stock brokers.

Politics was directly injected into the Teapot Dome investigation when William G. McAdoo appeared in his own defense.

Washington.—With President Coolidge's signature affixed to the resolution authorizing employment of special attorneys to investigate the naval oil leases, a definite move to hold up the appointments made several days ago by the president, until a thorough inquiry is made, has begun in the senate.

Senator Dill of Washington said that when the names of Silas H. Strawn and Atlee Pomerene are presented to the public lands committee, of which he is a member, he will ask for a thorough hearing. He has the names of several witnesses whom he will summon to testify regarding the connections of the two lawyers. He said both Strawn and Pomerene might also be called.

Other developments have carried the oil inquiry far and wide:

1. Dill spread the investigation over the globe by resolutions asking information from the state department regarding oil holdings of American citizens in nine countries.

2. Frederick G. Bonfils, Denver publisher, admitted that he had received $250,000 from Harry F. Sinclair and has a contract to receive $750,000 more by March 15, testifying that he had suppressed a news story that would have developed much regarding Sinclair's connection with Albert B. Fall that has not been presented to the special committee.

3. The senate passed a resolution by Senator La Follette, providing for an investigation of leases by Fall to the Honolulu Consolidated Oil company, in naval reserve No. 2, comprising 1,900 acres, after the claims of the company had been declared invalid by former Secretary of the Interior John Barton Payne, and this decision was upheld in a subsequent decision from the interior department.

A bitter attack was made upon Secretary Denby by Senator Walsh of Montana, who declared that he wanted to see Denby "driven from office." Senator Borah of Idaho, in a long speech, contended that the only way to approach Denby's case was a trial of impeachment.

The story told by Bonfils came as a sensation on top of many others. He told how he had sent a reporter from his paper down to Three Rivers, N. M., the home of Fall, and that an "astounding" story had been brought back, which he decided not to publish, as he feared it might be libelous. He did publish a long article attacking the lease. Later, he and Stack met Sinclair in New York and afterward in Kansas City, where the contract was signed.

STATE SCHOOL DEPARTMENT TO CURB "FRAT" ACTIVITIES

Sacramento.—Action in which the state school authorities will join with district school boards for the purpose of breaking up unlawful high school fraternities has begun as a result of the injury here of four high school boys during a fraternity initiation. Will C. Wood has issued an edict to the effect that the "frat" problem must be dealt with in a firm manner. Wood has also announced that his office will stand behind local boards in any action taken to rid the schools of secret clubs and organizations which are banned by the anti-"frat" law of 1909.

In Oakland, Fred M. Hunter, school superintendent, has taken the initiative and each principal is ordered to secure a pledge card from new pupils that they will not join a sorority or a fraternity.

MILITIA RULE ENDS HERRIN 'DRY' RIOTS

OFFICIALS HELD FOR MURDER OF CONSTABLE CAGLE

TROOPERS WELCOMED AS GUARD OF PEACE

Fifteen Companies Ordered to "Bloody Herrin" to Enforce Quiet at Point of Bayonet.—Mayor and Sheriff Implicated in Killing.

Herrin, Ill.—Mayor C. E. Anderson, Sheriff George Galligan, and nine men who S. Glenn Young, temporary chief of police, charges are professional gunmen deputized by Galligan, were arrested by military authorities and charged with the murder of Constable Caesar Cagle, Klan leader, shot and killed when he entered a hall where a meeting was held by anti-Klan forces.

"Bloody" Herrin must keep the peace at the point of the bayonet. State militia, brought here on order of Adj. Gen. Carlos Black, patrol the streets, ready for action in case of further outbreaks between the Ku Klux Klan and "Knights of the Flaming Circle." Dry raids precipitated the present trouble in which, it is said, more than 100 shots were fired.

A prominent citizen killed, a deputy sheriff probably mortally wounded, the sheriff of the county charged with the murder; S. Glenn Young, Klan employe "prohibition czar" of Williamson county, proclaimed chief of police and acting law enforcer, the town made notorious by the Herrin riots of June, 1922, welcomed the troops as the only hope for peace.

George Galligan, sheriff of Williamson county, was arrested by Young and his aides and held in jail here on a charge of killing Oscar Cagle, Young's "first lieutenant." Cagle was attacked by a mob, severely beaten and then killed by rifle fire. Galligan, according to Young, was the leader of the mob.

John Layman, chief deputy sheriff, also accused of participating in the attack upon Cagle, was later wounded in a gun battle. He was taken to a hospital, where his chances for recovery were considered slim.

The second outbreak of violence occurred at the hospital, when a group of Layman's friends called to inquire of his condition. Young and his followers came at the same moment to arrest them. Shots were exchanged between the two groups, but nobody was seriously wounded.

Young charged in a statement that "assassins sent Cagle's 9-year-old son to tell him he was wanted at Masonic Hall and when he arrived downtown he was shot down like a dog."

Murphysboro, Ill.—Miners in twelve mines in the territory between Herrin and Murphysboro walked out with the intention, according to reports here, of organizing to "oust the Klan from Williamson county." Miners from the Herrin district were the first to quit, according to reports here.

Mine managers feared serious trouble was imminent between factions among the miners over the Klan issue.

ONLY ONE GUARD UNIT RATED "EXCELLENT" IN ATTENDANCE

Sacramento.—Only one unit of the California national guard is given a rating of "excellent" for drill attendance during 1923, in a report just issued here by Adjutant General Mittelstaedt. The unit is the medical detachment of the 250th regiment of the coast artillery corps, located in San Francisco and San Diego. The rating of excellent is based upon drill attendance of between 80 and 100 per cent of the membership.

Three units are given a rating of "very good"—70 to 79 per cent—and eleven are given a rating of "satisfactory"—60 to 69 per cent. The attendance of twenty other units is reported "unsatisfactory"—50 to 59 per cent; thirteen are listed as "poor"—40 to 49 per cent, and ten very poor—below 40 per cent in attendance.

WATCH FOUND ON SUSPECT BRANDS HIM AS "LONE WOLF"

Santa Barbara.—A telegram received from Tiffany's, New York jewelers, identifying the watch found on Arthur Leipzig, burglar caught by police here, brands him as the "lone wolf," who for months last summer looted summer homes of Montecito and Santa Barbara millionaires, defying posess and securing more than $75,000 worth of jewelry.

This was the statement of local police after receipt of the message which disclosed that the watch was sold to C. K. G. Billings of Montecito and New York. The watch was stolen from the Billings home here.

Passing motorists en route to Tiajuana have been fired at recently, the shots coming from a spot on the side of the road where a short time ago there stood a sign reading, "This is the road to hell."

L. L. Boas, well known geologist, has taken a lease on 300 acres of land in the San Pablo canyon district, Contra Costa county, to bore for oil.

Robbers looted the Clovis State Bank of cash between $10,000 and $15,000 and escaped. The thugs locked Thomas Howison, jr., assistant cashier, in a vault, holding E. R. Rayburn, vice-president, at bay while they gathered the cash.

BENJAMIN CAMPBELL,
FOUNDER OF CAMPBELL

IMPROVEMENT CLUB FOR GOOD ROADS

Campbell Improvers at last session went on record favoring first class paving on the Santa Clara Los Gatos road between Campbell and Los Gatos. Stanley Smith brought the subject before the Club stating that Los Gatos was also in favor of the better materials being used.

The matter of moving back the fences on South Central avenue to line up with North Central was discussed, several property owners being present, some being willing to have the job done at once.

By order of the Club a number of this and next issue of the Press will be sent to Eastern inquirers who have asked concerning our community. Secretary Miracle was authorized to answer several communications concerning business and trade locations in Campbell.

It was decided to accept the offer of the library rooms for future meetings of the Club.

SENIOR PLAYERS BUSY WITH DRILL

The Senior class of the Campbell Union high school has selected "Purple and Fine Linen" as the play to be presented by them this season.

This play is laid in the Puritan period and is full of the amusing contrasts of the customs of that day with those of our time.

The cast is being coached by the class advisor, Miss Claribel Boesch, assisted by Miss Violet Otterman. Rehearsals are being vigorously carried on afternoons and evenings and from the present indications the play promises to be of equal merit with those of former years.

After a series of tryouts the following were selected for the leading parts: Yale Maxon, Gayno Eddleman, Sam Reed, Albert Turner, Kenneth Peake, Franklin Blaine, Norman Angel, Lucius Buck, Russell Millard, Marie McCoy, Ruth Miller, Florence Williams, Helen Gould Gardner and Edna Watson.

LIBRARY BENEFIT

Don't forget that tonight, Feb. 15, is the date for the benefit dance at the Library. Exchange your invitation for a ticket at Miller's store or present it at the door. A few tables for cards and Mah Jongg have also been arranged.

An added musical attraction is the securing of Willie Fra Colbath with all his conglomerate noise making traps to do stunts with the orchestra.

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Campbell's Annual Old Settlers Day celebration promises to be one of unusual interest this year.

The committees have plans practically completed for the occasion and a full day of interesting entertainment is assured all. From the first number of the morning to the close of the P. T. A. Show of the evening there will be something of interest doing.

P. A. L. CHAMPIONSHIP GAME TONIGHT

The Campbell Hi 130's met the South San Francisco quintet Friday evening in a rather poorly played game although the score was only 12-7 in favor of the visitors. The players were Richard Shelley, Merle Gardner, Edgar Gerow, Jitsu Yamato, Milton Nelson and Sam Reed.

A volley ball game was the second feature. Two picked teams played an exciting round which at least furnished themselves amusement, if it didn't thrill the high school students. The much talked of and long anticipated basket ball game between San Jose Hi team will be staged in the local gym this evening. This event decides the championship of the P. A. L. and will undoubtedly be a hard won victory for either side but we are looking for the score to be in favor of Campbell. The S. R. O. sign will probably be needed early in the evening. Admission is 25 cents.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"Because the goal is distant, is that any reason why we should not march toward it?"
—Hugo.

THE PASSING OF WOODROW WILSON

The place of Woodrow Wilson in history is fixed. His name is destined to occupy a conspicuous page in the annals of his country. He was easily one of the outstanding figures in the great World War. The service which he rendered in this great drama of blood and iron is a matter for future historians adequately to set forth. As an idealist he will continue to hold a foremost place among the great statesmen of his generation. The crowning achievement of his life failed of its full accomplishment largely through his own inexorable devotion to his idealism. But the League of Nations, for which he probably gave his life, will ever remain as a monument to his memory. Like most great men, he had his faults, but these faults do not obscure his great contributions to his country and the world in the masterful manner in which he conducted the nation's affairs in the time of the world's sorest trials. There is no denying the fact that Woodrow Wilson has enshrined himself in the hearts of great multitudes of his fellow countrymen, and established himself in the high estimation of the peoples of all the nations of the world. The news of Woodrow Wilson's death was the occasion for universal expression of respect for him as a man and appreciation of his great services in the cause of humanity.

OIL MOVES WORLD COMMERCE

For the carriage of goods between nations the dependence will remain on merchant shipping, and one of the incentives to the use of oil fuel will be brought about by increased competition.

Oil is the more economical fuel, for the reason that, other things being equal, one ton of oil fuel as now used in Diesel engines, drives a vessel three times as far as one ton of coal burned under the boiler of a steamship and yet oil is twice as efficient as coal when the ship has water-tube boilers and geared turbines.

Whether we think of oil as used for Diesel or for steam engines, it certainly looks as if the future mercantile marines of the world will be in the main oil-driven. The possibility of ample oil wells in other parts of the world may, and probably will get over the difficulty; but it is one thing to have coal fields at home, and quite another consideration to fetch oil from the other end of the earth.

In any forecast of the world's mercantile marines due regard must therefore be paid to the use and supply of oil. In oil development the United States is particularly fortunate.

TWENTY YEARS OF FLYING

Twenty years ago, December, last, the Wright Brothers, Orville and Wilbur, made their epoch making flight in the first mechanically driven airplane.

They used a propeller to drive their plane. Probably got the idea from ship propeller used in water, just as the first railroad cars looked like stagecoaches and the first autos like buggies. Hard to shake precedent.

Throughout the 20 years of heavier-than-air flying, no one thought of using any propelling agent other than a propeller. Now a Frenchman invents something entirely new. His plane has no propeller. It is driven ahead by exploding gases—like a skyrocket. It may revolutionize flying. Also, it may not.

SOME JOB FOR WILL HAYS

Violence again brings a screen star orgy to the spotlight. There was a bottle handy with which Courtland S. Dines could threaten Mabel Normand's chauffeur and shooting followed. If Will Hays was hired to renovate the silver screen, it is obvious that he has plenty of unfinished business. Licentious debauchery isn't essential to art. Decent people are disgusted with these recurring reports of high rolling in Hollywood.

WE'RE ON THE STAGE TODAY, OFF TOMORROW

There will be close to 1,300,000 funerals in the United States during 1924. The national death rate now is about 12 a year to the 1,000 population.

Births will exceed deaths, so the total population will increase—which seems to be nature's principle worry. We are like an army forever marching into the stage of life from one side and marching off the other into oblivion. And we are across and into the wings a lot sooner than we expect.

Promote in every way the interest of Los Gatos for in that way you can best promote your own interests. And do not overlook the fact that the kind of a town you live in is the kind of a town you help make the town you live in.

Lincoln's First Dollar brought hope and confidence

Lincoln earned his first dollar by acting as ferryman on a river raft he had built for himself. He had expected "two or three bits" from each passenger, but each gave him a half-dollar.

"You may think it was a very little thing," he said later, "and in these days it seems to me a trifle; but it was a most important incident in my life.

"I could scarcely credit that I, a poor boy, had earned a dollar in less than a day—that by honest work I had earned a dollar.

"The world seemed wider and fairer before me. I was a more hopeful and confident being from that time." Lincoln's words on earning a dollar can be applied to saving a dollar. A fairer and wider world unfolds and hope and confidence come to those who earn and save.

Group singing of a number of the popular songs inaugurated an evening of jollity, during which mah jongg and cards formed the chief diversions.

Paper carnival caps and toy pop-balloons furnished diversion, and Mrs. W. S. Shelly sang two pretty solos.

Dainty refreshments following out the Valentine theme, were served and another sing enjoyed before the company separated.

P.T.A. WILL FURNISH REST ROOM

The subject for Tuesday's meeting of the high school P. T. A. was "Patriotism", a very fitting one for the occasion—Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Lloyd Gardner is the chairman of that department and she had asked Mrs. Nichols to speak. She had chosen as her topic, "Loyalty", one of the most marked characteristics of the martyred president.

She stressed the need of instilling loyalty to the teacher in the children, and then the need of the same loyalty on the part of the parents. Loyalty to flag and country is another step and in illustration of the cultivation of this allegiance she recited a prose story, "Allegiance to the Flag and the Country for which It Stands," that was full of pathos and inspiration.

Richard Shelley gave a very delightful violin number, accompanied by Prof. Josef Halamecek on the piano.

An interesting business session was held at which plans were instituted for a "Birthday Tea" to be held some time in April. The club is very desirous of beginning the furnishing of the girls' rest room in the gymnasium, and to do this, the treasury must be replenished as most of the funds were used in supplying the gym kitchen with dishes.

ART SHOW

Recognizing the educational advantages to be derived from opportunities to see good art, the schools have arranged with the Elson Art Publication Co., Inc., of Belmont, Mass., for an art exhibition of two hundred pictures to be held in the Campbell Grammar School.

This collection, consisting in large part of carbon photographs, photographs and prints in full color, made directly from the original masterpieces, is selected by art experts and should attract large crowds. A small admission will be charged, the entire proceeds of which, after deducting the expense of the exhibits, will be used in the purchase of pictures for wall decoration. The purpose of the exhibition is thus clearly two-fold.

First—To give people an opportunity to see a collection of the world's famous masterpieces of painting, sculpture and architecture.

Second—To make it possible for the public schools to own a few of these pictures.

SUCCESS

The following timely item of interest was handed the Press by one of the Mercantile Trust Co. force:

There Is No Short-Cut to Success
These are excerpts from Andrew W. Mellon's recent letter entitled "Success—a Message from the Secretary of the Treasury to the People of the United States."

Every boy and girl and every man and woman must have certain assets to achieve success—not material assets alone, but assets of character, and among the most important of these are ambition, industry, personality, and thrift.

Ambition is the will to attain something. The desired object may be knowledge, or honor, or power, or whatever it is, the ambition to reach it must be backed by the willingness to work for it. Mere wishes accomplish little without the aid of earnest application and industry.

The assets of personality are more elusive and seem to be born in some people without any effort on their part, but, on the other hand, it may be acquired by everyone who will concentrate on his career and not let it be marred by carelessness and indifference.

To save part of what one earns is another vital element in a successful life. Savings are not only insurance against the turns of fortune, but also a means of seizing golden opportunities, which are so often lost through the lack of a small amount of capital.

This brief sketch of some of the necessary qualities should be enough to show that there is no easy road or short cut to success. It means constant hard work and saving, and many sacrifices, but it is really worth them all through the ultimate feeling of accomplishment and the lasting happiness which it brings to its possessor.

Sacramento, Woodland and Dixon business men have organized a $1,000,000 oil company, the Petroleum Producers, Inc., with Woodland as headquarters and A. T. Spencer of Sutter county, president of the state reclamation board, heading the board of directors. The company owns 160 acres of land near Taft, Kern county, located between naval oil reserves Nos. 1 and 2, now involved in the Teapot Dome scandal.

Mystery surrounding the holdup of the Pike Branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank at Long Beach, November 27, was cleared when George Lamarr confessed. He said he dressed himself as a laborer and entered the bank during the noon hour, shoved a note, demanding $500 under the window to the cashier and was handed a package of currency containing $2,600.

Conservation Discussed

When dry seasons come people are interested in water conservation. When we have abundant rains—who cares—we are all right. That seems to be the attitude of the people of this valley. This being a dry season, Odd Fellows hall was well filled at a public meeting of the grange Tuesday evening to hear Stephen E. Keefer, one of the engineers who made the survey of the valley several years ago.

Mr. Keefer stated the average rainfall of the valley was 15 1/2 inches, but it is very irregular from year to year and seems to come in cycles—several years of bountiful rainfall often followed by years of scant supply. These scant years are very hard on the orchards, as fruit cannot develop to perfection without a full supply of water and only well developed, large fruit sells for a paying price. The difference in the value of large, well matured fruit in a good year and the value of small poor fruit in a year of water shortage has been estimated at not less than $1,000,000; this for a single year for the valley, and that sum alone would go a long way toward paying for the water conservation system proposed by the engineers which would enable orchardists to irrigate their orchards in dry years, thus bringing the fruit up to the more profitable sizes and saving many trees from dying, which is also a cause of large losses to the orchardists in years of light rains.

It has been found that the water level of the valley is lowering from 4 to 7 feet per year. Wells have to be continually lowered from time to time to get water and some way must be found to fill up the natural reservoirs—the gravel beds underlying the valley—and the only possible way is by holding back the flood waters of heavy rainfalls by reservoirs and dams built in the hills and mountains as proposed by the former survey.

The speaker presented a splendid map of the district which attracted much attention. The district, as at present proposed, would cover about 125,000 acres; this is 35,000 acres less than the original proposition. Certain portions of the old district, which would receive little, if any, benefit, being eliminated. There is an enormous run off of water in wet winters. As much of this as possible must be held back at various points not only to be used directly through ditches but to be allowed to percolate down to the gravel beds where it can be reached by wells. These gravel beds are the natural storage reservoirs and the problem is to get the water into them.

The original estimate of cost was $70 per acre to construct the dams and main lines of conduits. There would also be an additional cost of $25 to $40 per acre for distributing ditches. This, speakers of the audience declared to be very reasonable, some saying they would be willing to pay $200 per acre to get an adequate supply of water when needed. Some discussion followed in regard to the manner of assessments for these improvements. It was shown that under the law providing for irrigation systems, the assessments would be made on the basis of benefits derived.

The speaker made the statement that at the present time there was no other place in the world where the people were paying as much for water as in the Santa Clara valley. That the vote on the proposition failed before because of indifference and a failure on the part of many to understand the facts. Should it be decided to put this water conservation system in it will take a year of preliminary work to get started and about three years for completion.
